News Brief

Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina unveiled a five-point “action plan” to effectively fight antimicrobial resistance (AMR), saying that failure to tackle this hazard may cause even more lethal pandemics in future. The Premier said this while delivering her recorded statement broadcast at a High-level Interactive Dialogue on AMR in New York, the USA yesterday. As co-chairs of the Global Leaders Group on AMR, Sheikh Hasina in her first proposal, called for adopting integrated multi-sectoral and collective action plan on AMR by the international community at both regional and global levels with special focus on low and middle-income countries. ‘Good manufacturing, laboratory practices and surveillance framework are needed to tackle the AMR,’ she said in her second proposal. The Premier, in her third proposal, put emphasis on equitable access to affordable and effective antibiotics, as required, through transfer of technology and sharing of ownership. In her fourth and fifth proposals, she opined for sustainable financing for AMR containment activities and global public awareness to battle AMR through political commitment and partnership among the member states. The dialogue, convened by President of the 75th session of the United Nations General Assembly Volkan Bozkir, is a follow-up to a call of the assembly in its resolution titled “Political declaration of the high-level meeting on universal health coverage.”
